CHEDER CHABAD BOYS DIVISION

LETTER FROM THE MENAHEL:

Dear Parents,

אין לך בן חורין אלא מי שעוסק בתורה.

The only free person is one who occupies himself with Torah learning. This message is one that requires suspension of judgment and trust. To desire to be free as at the core of the human condition, yet, how we get there, is counterintuitive and calls on us to suspend our judgment and follow this teaching.

As we enter into Chag HaPesach, when we will all celebrate and play out various expressions of freedom, it is important that we keep in mind and act upon where true freedom lies. BH as being part of a large kehilah, there is an opportunity for every student to join a renowned program for bein-hazmanim learning, in which they can earn prizes.

I encourage you to set a specific time to learn with your son and raise his interest in the learning program. The cheder talmidim know that giving nachas to our parents is primarily by learning Torah with them and in their presence.

May we all have a chag Kosher vesameiach, and may we all utilize this zeman cheiruseinu first and foremost for Torah learning. May this yom tov be celebrated together in the Third Beis Hamikdosh where we will eat min haPesachim unim haZevachim,

Chag Kosher vesameiach,

Rabbi Kaplan

A PEEK AT OUR WEEK

Mrs. Mandel's first graders read a beautiful poem with a profound lesson about not speaking loshon hora. They enjoyed decorating their poem page to create a beautiful project to remind them about this middah. In math, a spider web model helped the class count by tens and find nine ways to reach the sum of ninety. Using a skills foundation of ones and tens, the boys did pre-Pesach themed math examples. In language arts the boys are well versed in their spelling rules. Using VCCV (vowel consonant consonant vowel) helps them divide words for reading in their individualized reading groups.

Mrs. Hermann's second graders have been working on subtracting two and three digit numbers with regrouping and began a new reader this week. They are progressing nicely in both subjects. The boys enjoyed making Seder pillows, as well. They decorated and stuffed their pillows and created beautiful and useful projects that will iy'H be used for many years to come.

The boys are getting more and more excited as we approach the wonderful yomtov of Pesach! To give them an opportunity to expend some energy in a fun and educational way, Mrs. Eckstein's class began math on Monday with a round of KA-BOOM. The class was divided into groups of two, and the boys took turns asking each other math questions. Some cards with the word KABOOM were interspersed among the question cards. Ask your son what happened when they got a KAB-BOOM card....On Tuesday during writing, the boys had to complete a Pesach story. Everyone enjoyed hearing the various endings that their friends had made up. In social studies the boys learned about different customs all around the world. They discussed different Pesach customs and different family customs as well. The boys all received multiplication and division flashcards. Please have them review while on vacation so that they don't forget what they worked so hard to attain. In addition, handwriting books will be sent home as review work.

Have a wonderful Shabbos!

THANK YOU

Thank you Rabbi Shusterman for the chickens

Beis Nissan Farbrengens

In honor of Beis Nissan the histalkus of the Rebbe Rashab, the cheder celebrated with farbrengens.

Kitas Alef and Beis enjoyed a farbrengen with Rabbi Blotner along with a special presentation by Rabbi Silverstein on the Rebbe Rashab's living quarters in Rostov.

The rest of the Cheder farbrenged with Rabbi Kaplan who told many stories and spoke about the significance of the day.
